President William L. Clarke presided as the direct representative of the at the regular monthly meeting of the town council.

Westerly town council Monday, with these councilmen present: C. Clarence Maxson, William Culley, Horace C. The bill of former Town Solicitor Everett A. Kingsley of $100 in the Conway case, which was referred back to Mr. Kingsley at the previous meeting for more particulars, was again presented. On motion of Councilman Langworthy the bill was ordered paid. Councilman Flynn was not opposed to the payment of the bill, but believed that such cases should be thoroughly discussed before being taken into court. He believed that there was a time when the Conway case could have been satisfactorily settled.

Councilman Langworthy said the Conways have no case against the town and therefore should not be settled. He would rather pay a few hundred dollars to settle such cases in court and thereby prevent frequent chairs. Burdick, Maurice J. Flynn, Albert H. Langworthy. The records of the last regular and special meetings were ap-proved as read by Clerk Everett E. Whippel.

The bills of Overseer of the Poor Barber were approved and ordered paid, as were the other regular bills paid, as were the other regular bills of the town.

Attorney Henry L. Burdick, representing John F. Davis, claimed that by reason of a brook running into Pawcatuck river a bar was formed in front of Mr. Davis' dock and making it impracticable for his business. Mr. Burdick set forth that this obstruction was due to the faulty layout of some of the streets, as the sediment fills the pockets and flows on and injures Mr. Davis' property. No claim for damage was made at this time, but the attorney asked that the judgment of the council be furnished as soon as possible. Mr. Davis is willing to assist the ble. Councilman Flynn asked if the brook was used for any purpose except to carry water from the brook and surface water; whether it was used for sewerage. Mr. Burdick said he had no information on that subject.

In response to a query from Councilman Maxson, Mr. Davis said that formerly large sloops and tugboats were able to come to where his dock is now located. Mr. Davis said the expense to the town to remove the bar would be about $200 and that he planned to construct a pocket that would care for construct a pocket that would care for the sediment in the future.

Chief of Police Bransfield made re-port of the work of the police for No-vember, which showed four arrests for intoxication, four stores found open and two liquor raids. The doings were reported in detail, approved and order-ed on file.
